New Bicycle Friendly Features on Roads

Bike lanes & shared lanes on Fargo streets

Biking is a healthy, earth friendly and affordable way to travel and it's becoming more popular among Fargo residents.

Over the summer, the City of Fargo striped dozens of roads to include bike lanes or shared lanes which are designed to help drivers and bikers share the road safely. Whether you're a driver or bicyclist, it's important to understand and follow safety guidelines so that everyone can use the road safely.

- Motorists should not park in bicycle lanes.
- Motorists may make turns across a bicycle lane to enter a parking space or to enter a drive way, etc. as long as they signal their intention and yield to bicyclists.
- When parked next to a bicycle lane, motorists should always look for bicyclists before opening their car door. Bicyclists should always watch for motorists opening a door by looking ahead into a car's rear window.
- Bicyclists are not mandated to use bicycle lanes.

- Bicyclists may exit a bicycle lane at any time as long as they look for traffic behind them before leaving the bicycle lane, yield to motorists and use appropriate hand signals.

Bike lanes are marked with a stripe & bike symbol.

- Most bicycle lane lines become dashed just before an intersection. The dashed lines notify bicyclists and motorists that this is an area where they will be mixing on a regular basis.

- A shared lane marking is a stencil applied to roadway lanes when there is not enough space for a bicyclist to safely share a lane with a motorist due to the width of the roadway lane. The shared lane marking shows bicyclists the most appropriate place to travel in the roadway lane so as not to encourage motorists to "squeeze by" when a travel lane is narrow. Sometimes shared lane markings will guide a bicyclist to the center of a travel lane such as on Broadway between NP Avenue and 6th Avenue North.

Flood insurance special, p. 2

Fargo Flood Risk

Insuring Your Future

FEMA is currently revising the 100 year floodplain map for Fargo. The map will become effective approximately 12-18 months after its completion. Because of this revision, many properties will be added to the Special Flood Hazard Area (SFHA), also known as the 100-year floodplain, high risk area, regulated floodplain or Zone A. Homeowners who are newly mapped into this zone and who have a federally backed mortgage will be required to purchase flood insurance.

Revised floodplain map – know your risk

FEMA has sole authority to place or remove property from the SFHA. Congress requires FEMA to remap floodplains periodically to reflect population growth. Fargo is scheduled for a map revision in 2011. Residents can view a preliminary version of the map on the Fargo website at www.fargofloodinsurance.com. Be sure to read the map legend carefully before studying the map.

How the map will affect you

In the revised map, a larger portion of Fargo is included in the SFHA. Many properties will change categories from a low risk (Zone X, 500-year) into the high risk SFHA (Zone A). Property owners newly mapped into the SFHA may be required to purchase flood insurance. If you have a federally backed (insured) mortgage your lender will require you to carry flood insurance.

Purchasing flood insurance

Your insurance agent is the best source of flood insurance information. You can learn more about this important topic at www.floodsmart.gov. Understand that homeowners' insurance does not cover flooding. Because of this, your lender is required to determine if you need to buy a separate flood policy.

A mortgage lender has the authority to select flood insurance on behalf of the borrower and add the cost to their monthly payment. However, borrowers typically have the option to purchase flood insurance on their own.

Selling your home

Purchasing flood insurance early can be a benefit if you are mapped into a SFHA and are considering selling your home. Any advantage a homeowner secures by purchasing flood insurance early can be carried over to the new owner of the home. Talk to your insurance agent for details.

Should I buy flood insurance before the map change?

Insurance agents agree that having a flood insurance policy in place before the map changes is better than not having one. Why? Once policyholders are insured with the National Flood Insurance Program they are considered "loyal customers" and can benefit from reduced paperwork and a better rate if they are newly mapped into the Special Flood Hazard Area. For as little as $10.75 per month ($129 annually) you can own a flood insurance policy. Call your agent today!

Keeping Children & Their "Stuff" Safe

Back to school

Practicing back to school safety isn't just for kids, it's important for adults to be cautious, too. Many children will be out in the mornings and after school as they walk or bike to class or home. The Fargo Police Department is asking everyone to be cautious this school year, and stay safe.

Drivers

- Please remember while driving to obey all speed limits, especially in school zones. Everyone is getting used to new schedules and routines.
- Allow yourself extra time while driving to and from your destination. School buses and children walking or riding bike can set you back a few minutes. Plan for the delay.
- While on the road don't allow yourself to be distracted. If you need to use a cell phone, other electronic devices or you are eating, pull over.

Bikers

Follow the Rules of the Road

- Ride with traffic and obey the same laws as motorists.
- Use the right-most lane that heads in your direction.
- Obey all traffic control devices.
- Always look back and use hand and arm signals to indicate your intention to stop, merge or turn.

Be Visible

- Ride where drivers can see you.
- Wear brightly colored clothing at all times.
- At night, use a white front light and red rear light or reflector.

Be Predictable

- Ride in a straight line and don't swerve between parked cars.
- Make eye contact with motorists to let them know you are there.

Anticipate Conflicts

- Be aware of traffic around you and be prepared to take quick action.
- Learn braking and turning techniques to avoid crashes.
- Be extra alert at intersections.

Wear a Helmet

- Make sure that the helmet fits on top of your head and is not tipped back or forward.
- After a crash or any impact that affects your helmet, visible or not, replace it immediately.

Protecting Valuables at School

Theft at school can be an issue with any age group. Being a victim of a theft can be very upsetting to a child and investigating the crime can be time consuming for school staff and the investigating officer. Most property crimes are crimes of opportunity; they take only seconds to commit and are very hard to solve.

- Don't let your child bring valuables to school.
- Explain to your child the importance of securing their property by always locking their locker.
- If your child rides a bicycle to school, make sure they have a bicycle lock and use it!
- Sign up for the MyStuff Program, a web-based program that lets students register any item with a serial number through their school. Students can register their items online at www.fargo.K12.nd.us/mystuff/. They can log into the site using their student ID number and password.

From the Firehouse

With Fire Marshal Norm Scott

Plan your escape

What's the best way to protect your family from fire? Be ahead of the game, of course. When it comes to fire, your best defense is a good offense. Fire Prevention Week is October 9-15, 2011. The theme this year is "It's Fire Prevention Week. Protect Your Family from Fire!" Although preparing for the unexpected is difficult, reviewing the information below and taking action based on it to plan for a fire could save lives.

- Make a home escape plan.
- Know at least two ways out of every room, if possible.
- If there are infants, older adults, or family members with mobility limitations, make sure that someone is assigned to assist them in a fire.
- Have an outside meeting place (like a tree, light pole or mailbox).
- Practice your home fire drill at night and during the day, twice a year.
- Practice using different ways out.
- Teach children how to escape on their own in case you can't help them.

If the alarm sounds:

- If the smoke alarm sounds, get out and stay out.
- If you have to escape through smoke, get low and go under the smoke to find your way out.
- Call 911 from outside your home.

Understanding Weather Notifications

Fargo & Cass County

The primary notification systems for severe weather in our area are outdoor warning sirens and CodeRED Weather Notifications. These systems are designed to alert you that dangerous conditions are near and encourage you to take shelter indoors.

Why do only some people get CodeRED calls?

CodeRED notifications and outdoor sirens have the same purpose, to alert residents to severe conditions, but they are designed to work in different ways. Sirens generally go off throughout the entire city during an emergency, however, CodeRED may only be used to call subscribers in immediate danger. For example, during a tornado warning, sirens may be going off in the entire city of Fargo, while the warning area may only include a specific portion of the city. Only CodeRED subscribers living within the warning area would get a CodeRED phone call. If you would like to sign up for CodeRED Weather Notifications, go to www.cityoffargo.com/emergencies or call 701-476-4068.
